

TOP 5 / PRIORITIES SURVEY RESULTS

- 1 Holladay residents as a whole are largely satisfied with their quality of life in the city, city services, and city management. High-level measures gauging the health of the city are mostly consistent with the sentiments from our 2017 survey.
- 2 A majority of Holladay residents are pleased with their neighborhoods' walkability, access to parks and public lands, connection to the rest of the city, look, and mix of businesses and housing.
- 3 Roads are the hot topic among city residents today. There is significant discontent with neighborhood sidewalks and roads—more than half say they are in average or poor condition. A majority of residents also feel there's a need for improvement in the main roads around the city. There is a prevailing sentiment that these infrastructure elements are not well-maintained.
- 4 When it comes to priorities for capital improvements in the city, residents gravitate toward projects focused on road maintenance and trail system development. Potential projects that fell lower on residents' collective priorities list were a pump track, additional sidewalks in commercial centers, a skate park, and maintenance to City Hall.
- 5 Residents' budgetary choices match their project prioritization well. Surface maintenance on city streets and roads receives the highest dollar amount allocation on average while City Hall maintenance and upgrades receives the lowest average allocation.
